

Benefits of ACP Membership

The following are some of the benefits of ACP membership:

- Annual event for trainee members. This year taking place on 21-22 November 2024 in Leeds. Further details here.
- A study day on acute oncology was held on 10 November 2023 in Leeds, followed by the trainees' weekend. Further details here.
- For new consultants and trainees in their final year of training, the ACP holds an annual weekend for new consultants (28-29 March 2025 in Birmingham), which is free to attend.
- Bi-monthly newsletters with information on forthcoming events, jobs and research opportunities.
- For trainees preparing for the SCE in Medical Oncology, the ACP has published a new evidence-based resource of 500 SBA practice questions to aid revision. Details here and available to members at a discounted price of £25+P&P (use discount code ACPQ_A at checkout).
- Publication of a series of prize-winning case study books. Recent titles include a timely publication on Problem Solving in Acute Oncology, and books on Cancer and Fertility and Interventional Oncology. Details of all the books are here and members are entitled to a 25% discount (apply code ACP2021 at checkout).
- Monthly webinars held on Zoom. The webinars are recorded and available to ACP members in the EBN e-library (see below). Listing of recent webinars here.
- An e-library in partnership with EBN Health. Members can access electronic versions of the ACP publications, in addition to full recordings of all the webinars. Members need to register separately to access the site, please click the following link ACP/EBN publication site and select 'Your Account' to register for access.
- Discounted ESMO membership. The ACP has a reciprocal agreement with ESMO to allow ACP members a reduction on the annual ESMO subscription. For full ESMO members details are here. For trainee members ESMO offers an extensive programme to support career development, including discounted membership, details here.
- For trainee members, the ACP offers an annual President's Prize and McElwain prizes for research.
- Best of ASCO® UK. The ACP hosts the UK's only officially licensed Best of ASCO® event.